

N^o 144
Rep. May 4 1867
A List
People

TO THE EVENING STAR
MELODY
The Words by
J. R. Fry
The Music by
G. VERDI.

25 Cts. net.

Philadelphia A. FIOT 196 Chestnut St.
Importer of Music & Musical Instruments
New York W. DUBOIS 315 Broadway

Entered according to act of Congress in the Year 1867 by A. Fiot in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania

To the Evening Star Melody
The Words by
J. R. Fry
The Music by
G. Verdi

TO THE EVENING STAR.

Written by J. R. FRY.

Composed by VERDI.

With melancholy and pathos.

VOICE.

Beau - ti - ful star of e - - - - ven,

PIANO.

pp

Loveli - est orb of hea - - - - ven, Blest will my wea - - - - ry spi - - - rit be, Feeling its fet - - - - ters ri - - - - ven; And from its earth - - - ly pri - - - son free, Soar - - - ing on to rest in dim: 3

thee! Fond hope is ev - - - er tell - - - ing How ppp

bright - - thy be - - - ings dwell - - - ing, Where an - - - gels their com - pan - - - ions are; Where voi - ces im - mor - - tal swell - - - ing,

To the evening star.

Fi-cho-lays of ho-ly love a--far A---long thy plains fair start! There nev-er doomed to bor-----row Aught of our sin or sor-----row, Calmly their mo-ments steal a-way: Fear never clouds a

pp

mor-----row, Regret o'erhangs no passing day Beneath thy blissful sway!

To the evening star.

Beauti-ful star of e-ven, Gem on the brow of hea-ven, Oh! could my spi-rit, now unblest,

Turn, from its fet-ters ri-ven, Fain would it flee for aye to rest Up- on thy gen-tle breast!

dim

morendo.

To the evening star.